Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 06 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry and cloudy today. Very cold overnight.

Today:
A mostly dry and cloudy day, with any sunny spells confined to the west. A few wintry showers are possible, falling as sleet or snow over the moors. Feeling cold, despite lighter winds than yesterday. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Skies will clear during the evening, before cloud moves slowly in from the east overnight. Largely dry and very cold, with a risk of freezing fog patches and icy conditions. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Thursday:
A foggy and frosty start for many, but most areas becoming sunny in the afternoon. Dry throughout, with light winds and feeling cold. Widespread frost overnight. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Outbreaks of rain, sleet and snow on Friday. Drier on Saturday, with sunny spells. Staying cold both days, with overnight frosts. Cloudy and milder on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.